

Individual Graduation Plans

New Millennium Secondary Schools

What are Individualized Graduation Plans?

Individualized Graduation Plans, also known as IGPs, are a way to track what classes you have taken, are taking, and need to take AND get to take to graduate from New Millennium Secondary School

These plans are always changing each semester and year because they are based on several factors such as:

- Classes you have already taken (you should not take the same class unless to make-up a grade)
- Classes you have passed
- Classes you need to retake (I highlight in yellow to know it needs to be retaken)
- Master schedule and class availability
- Changes in your personal goals towards and after graduation

What does an IGP look like? A Blank IGP look like this:

How do IGPs work?

Creating an IGP is very individualized. Miss Samuel will be coming to each advisory with your transcripts and be working with you to complete it as a class.

There are some classes you have to take each year and in a certain order.

Then there are some classes you can choose from.

There is a “minimum graduation requirement” and then the graduation recommendations that are also suggested.

There is also the personal choices that you get to make as well.

Why create an IGP?

Creating an IGP helps in several ways:

- Helps the student and parent see the 4 year goal towards graduation
- Helps the student see the must takes and the flexibility in the schedule
- Helps to explain the “why” of some scheduling choices
- Helps to have the counselor, administration, students, and parents/guardians all on the same page when it comes to class options each year
- Helps to see when there is a “slip” in the students progress, where a corrected course might be taken (summer school or make ups)

What to do with the IGP once it is done:

This is a continuous working document - so it will be used to help ensure you have all of the correct classes, prepared for graduation, and taking the courses that you want (pending master scheduling).

Once Miss Samuel has visited your advisory, you will be given more instruction on how to share the IGP you created with her so she can also check it :-).

You will always have a copy with you and it is a google document so it will be in your drive
